

BY HER CRIES.

Mrs. Robert A. Beamy Created Excitement in the West End.

In a Carriage With Midwife Newland and Another Woman.

TROUBLE EXPERIENCED IN GETTING A PHYSICIAN TO ATTEND HER.

The Midwife Claimed a Criminal Operation Had Been Performed on Mrs. Beamy, and Dr. Joseph Bauer Said It Was a Case of Intoxication—Both Statements Indignantly Denied by the Patient—Claims She Does Not Remember Meeting Mrs. Newland—A Mysterious Case.

Behind all the conflicting statements which were made today in regard to the three women who drove around town last night in a cab, searching for a doctor to aid a poor, screaming female from terrible agony, there seems to be something peculiarly mysterious. There are implicated in it a respectable woman, whose husband is now out of town, the notorious Lizzie Hotson, the equally notorious Annie Newland, an unknown cab driver, and several physicians of excellent reputation.

The principal is Mrs. Robert N. Beamy, whose husband is the traveling representative of the American Tobacco Co. and the Secretary of Post A, Missouri Division of the Travelers' Protective Association. She lives with her husband and sister in a flat at 1003 Compton Avenue.

Last night between 8 and 9 o'clock a cab rolled up to the drug store of J. L. Boyston, 260 Olive street. It contained three women. One of them was uttering the most agonizing shrieks which could be heard fully a dozen blocks away. As the wheels stopped two of the women sprang out and rushed into the drugstore. The other remained in the cab and was seen to enter Dr. Boyston's office and he came out with Mrs. Murray's room, when he was confronted by that lady. He closed the door and ran for the steps, falling over a step-ladder on the landing. Mrs. Murray had been captured and was struggling with him, crying loudly for help. The thief broke away from her and got to the foot of the stairs, when he was seized by Dr. Murray's office attendant and held until an officer arrived.

woman. It seems as though they must connect me with every case of this sort that happens."

The Newland woman refused to be seen.

DR. BAUER'S ASSERTION.

Dr. Joseph Bauer was seen this morning and laughed the theory of a criminal operation to scorn. "There is absolutely no ground for such a supposition," he said in very emphatic tones, reiterating the statement more than once. "I was at a lodge meeting when the first call was sent, and when I got home there was a call for a few moments when the second call came in. I at once went over to 100 North Compton avenue, where I saw Mrs. Beamy. She was in a high nervous tension. I prescribed bromide of potassium and chloral and then left. I am positive that there had been no criminal operation attempted."

"Was Mrs. Beamy intoxicated, as the police report stated?" he was asked.

"That was the evasive answer. Did you not tell the police officers present she was intoxicated?"

"The other mental intoxication is describing her condition to them. Then you deny saying she was intoxicated."

"From what you saw, would you say if she was drunk or sober?"

"I will say this. I am a physician, and courtesy prevents me from making the condition of my patients, no matter what it is, publicly known. It is against medical ethics."

Dr. Bauer again insisted that no operation had been performed. He also wished to deny that Mrs. Beamy's family physician, Dr. Arthur Duestrow, had been called to see her once before. He also stated that Dr. Orr gave her morphine merely to ease her nerves on account of her mental excitement.

CAPTURED BY A WOMAN.

Dr. Murray's Wife Lands a Burglar Who Entered Her House.

Dr. A. Murray, the dentist of 1004 Olive street, appeared at the Four Courts this morning and swore out a warrant against Wm. Kans, the man arrested yesterday afternoon while in the act of burglarizing his office. Dr. Murray, who is the captor of the thief was due solely to the bravery and courage displayed by his wife.

After the man had ransacked the upper rooms, discarded his own clothes and put on his host's, he was about to make an overcoat of Dr. Murray's and had gathered a watch and chain and several articles of jewelry belonging to Dr. Murray. In doing so, he was pursued into Dr. Murray's room, when he was confronted by that lady. He closed the door and ran for the steps, falling over a step-ladder on the landing. Mrs. Murray had been captured and was struggling with him, crying loudly for help.

The thief broke away from her and got to the foot of the stairs, when he was seized by Dr. Murray's office attendant and held until an officer arrived.

TEN CONVICTS ESCAPE.

Overpowered a Guard and Secured His Keys—Foss in Pursuit.

LOCKHART, Tex., Feb. 29.—The prisoners in the County Jail overpowered the guard last night about 8 o'clock, took the keys from him, and all escaped except one, a Mexican, condemned to hang for wife murder, who was not present. The guard was captured in the cage adjoining the court-room as is the custom. He was not to be forced to associate with the common herd of his fellow inmates, but the others who had been left behind in his own cell in jail. When his case was called in court he was not even present, and the continuance was granted at the instance of ex-Gov. Johnson, who appeared for him.

The disposition of the case means practically that Dr. Duestrow is safe from either shooting or from being shot.

To waive a preliminary hearing.

Hence, witnesses have not to be subpoenaed to submit themselves to the public examination. The evidence has saved from showing their hand in any manner, and the greatest courtesy which Prosecuting Attorney Dierkes could extend, through the efforts of an accused felon, has been shown to Dr. Duestrow.

CLARA HOWARD'S MOVEMENTS.

The evidence tending to prove that Clara Howard had left the city seems to have lost much of its force since the discovery yesterday by a reporter for the Post-DISPATCH that a trunk had been shipped from St. Louis South Fourteenth street, the house adjoining the occupied room of Clara Howard, to Chicago. The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

Building Commissioner McMath, when asked if that lady had some animus in this case.

"I have no feeling whatever against Mr. Reid," he said. "It is a mere matter of duty. I told him that that is what I wished the court to determine my position in the case."

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

Building Commissioner McMath, when asked if that lady had some animus in this case.

"I have no feeling whatever against Mr. Reid," he said. "It is a mere matter of duty. I told him that that is what I wished the court to determine my position in the case."

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor further said that in each of the cases he had handled exactly "where Mr. Reid was at," there was nothing to do except to recognize him as Building Commissioner.

The Mayor

KEPPLER IS DEAD.

The Great Cartoonist Passes Away in New York.

SKETCH OF HIS EARLY HISTORY IN ST. LOUIS AND LATER CAREER.

How He First Discovered His Talent for Portrait Work—His Illustrated Paper Ventures in This City—Some of His Early Cartoons—Louis Willech's Reminiscences.

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—Joseph Keppler, the founder and part owner of Puck, whose reputation as a cartoonist is national, died at his home in this city at 8 o'clock yesterday evening. Mr. Keppler was born in Vienna, Feb. 1, 1838. He learned the trade of a confectioner and landed at New Orleans in 1860. His career as an artist was begun and the foundation of his fame laid in St. Louis. He married Miss Paulina Pfau in St. Louis. He leaves a widow and three children.

Much of Keppler's history is to be had in St. Louis, the scene of his early struggles. No man living cherishes a more sincere respect for Keppler's great talents than does Louis Willich, editor and owner of Die Laternen of St. Louis; and none contributed more to Keppler's success. When Willich first knew Keppler the latter was almost a raw sketcher with the most advanced ideas of what to paint.

In two years his name was a familiar word among New York publishers, and in 1857 he received his call to fame. It was contained in a letter from the Harpers, offering him $150 a week as cartoonist. This sum far more than the entire price of his comic strip in the St. Louis Puck, and Keppler was not slow in making a contract. After Keppler's departure, Mr. Willich being unable to replace him, Puck languished and soon died of inanition.

Two years of fairly well required toil by Keppler in Harper's proved to be followed by the revival of "Puck" this time in New York. Leopold Schenck contributed his brilliant literary ability, and Peter Schenck, son of Harper's, furnished the money and Keppler made the pictures and the fortunes of himself and his audience.

Mr. Willich thinks that Keppler's very best work was done in the first five years of publication of Puck in New York. He characterizes Keppler's genius as free of imitation, his love of fun spontaneous and natural.

Keppler's first wife, by whom there was no issue, died soon after he came to St. Louis, and, after he had married Miss Paulina Pfau of this city, she bore him three children, the eldest of whom, Joseph, the painter, is, I just entering upon his artistic career, that promises well. The widow and all the children survive him.

Among Keppler's earliest pictures in St. Louis were his caricatures of the Liberal Republicans, or "Possums." A specimen of his work in this line accompanies this sketch.

VARIETY OF VARIETIES.

An English Story Illustrating the English Idea of American Women.

The following story, from the London Queen, will interest Americans as giving the English view of the "young woman from the States."

The air was keen, clear and frosty, the trees that bordered the frozen mere glittered like silver in the winter sun rays. Beyond them, against the background of a magnificent plantation of Scotch firs, rose the grand old red-brick Tudor mansion of The Chase. And its master, Sir Gilbert Armitage, as he pointed out its beauties to his companion, was conscious that a new sensation might stir up the heraldic pride of ownership.

He was tall, fair and handsome; the male representatives of the family had always been noted for their good looks, though the women inclined to gauntness and sandness.

And his blonde comeliness contrasted well with the rich, dark, piquant beauty of his companion. She was dressed as only an amateur can be, in a wonderful combination of amethyst velvet and gold fur. An animated color brightened her cheeks, summoned thereto by exercise, happiness and youthful vanity.

Anastacia J. Mullens was an ambitious little girl, and she had reached the summit of her ambition. She was about to invest her dollars in the purchase of something for the Liberal Republican soul she had yearned over since she was old enough to read the History of England.

"Let that Ponder girl boast of her Russian prince," said stacila to herself. "I wouldn't change with her now."

She was a Carolean lady, but still a Carolean lady, however, beneath the title of Sir Gilbert Armitage, baronet—and where is he? Why, the Armitages have royal blood in their veins, if it comes to that. Who's that one of the girls?

"You shall have your answer," she said, "when you bring me to that place."

And she enclosed in his letter in her small gloved hand and threw it from her with all her strength. The icy wind caught the ball and paled it white.

And the house was filled with the sound of voices, and as if I was walking about in one of Almshouse novels. And to crown all, he's real sweet, and I like him. Hope the old lady and the girls won't live with us when we're married, though. If I ever met a set of aristocratic bairns' heart. She sent a cry after him.

INDORSED BY SATOLLI.

Fr. Phelan Gets a Letter Which He Hopes Approves His Course.

Rev. Fr. Phelan appeared to be highly gratified at the tenor of a letter which he received today from Mgr. Satolli, the Apostolic Delegate. The letter was a reply to one which Fr. Phelan sent to the Delegate last week in company with a copy of the last of his paper, and several interviews. Fr. Phelan insisted that the Uniat would have to support him in his contention that bishops were amenable to the courts, as well as to people's powers. In the reply, received today, the delegate thanks Fr. Phelan for his letter and explains that it would be inopportune for him to do so, as it would be a favor of Fr. Phelan's position, but adds that he, Fr. Phelan, should go on and continue his exposition of the law and practice recognized by the best ecclesiastical authorities.

HER HUSBAND'S SLAYER.

Mrs. Kanker Creates a Scene on Behold ing Him at the Four Courts.

Mr. August Kanker of 308 South Eleventh street, whose husband was killed by Henry Schieller last May, and who gets very excited every time she sees her husband's slayer, created another scene at the Four Courts to-day. The case against Schieller, who is charged with murder, in the Criminal Court waiting for a case on trial to be finished. Mrs. Kanker met Schieller in the corridor about 11 a.m. to-day to demand that he be tried again.

"You shall have your answer," she said, "when you bring me to that place."

And she enclosed in his letter in her small gloved hand and threw it from her with all her strength. The icy wind caught the ball and paled it white.

NEVER BEFORE

Have Goods Been Sold So Cheap as They Are Now in

Nugents

GREAT SALE OF

CHICAGO BANKRUPT STOCK.

Don't Miss This Chance. 100,000 Dollars' Worth from the Jas. H. Walker Auction at 50 Cents on the Dollar.

Chicago's extra wide Table Oil Cloth, 40c quality,

At 10c yard

Colored Cheesecloth in pink, light blue and red, Chicago price 6 1-4c yd;

Our Price, 2c

Ladies' 7-Hook Lacing Kid Gloves, prime real kid quality, Chicago price $2 pair;

Our Price, $1.25 pair

New Dress Goods, Chameleon Diagonals, spring shades, Chicago price, 25c yard;

Our Price, 15c

New Dress Goods, Pointelle Sutlings, Chicago price 30c yard;

Our Price, 18c

New Plaids, 42 inches wide, Chicago price 75c yard;

Our Price, 49c

Black Dress Goods, Satin Pointelle, ALL WOOL, 38-inches wide, Chi-ago price $1 yard;

Our Price, 49c

All Silk Black Fallie Francalise, Chicago price $1 yard;

Our Price, 59c

Brocade Silks in Peau de Sole and Satin grounds, Chicago price $1.25 yard;

Our Price, 65c

Black Surah, pure silk, 48 inches wide (5 yards make a dress), Chicago price $2.50 yard;

Our Price, $1.45

White Habutai Wash Silks, Chicago price 50c;

Chicago price 65c;

Our Price, 39c

Good Muslin Nightgowns, Mother Hubbard style, Chicago price 75c;

Our Price, 49c

Muslin Drawers, full size, yoke band, wide hem, with fine tucks above, Chicago price 40c pair;

Our Price, 25c

Raw Silk Slumber Robes, Chicago price $1.00;

Our Price, 69c

Pacific Robe Calicos, Chicago price 8 1-3c;

Our Price, 4c

Simpson's best quality black and white Mourning Prints, Chicago price 8 1-3c yard;

Our Price, 5c

Genuine imported Linen Gingham, fine silk finish, Chicago price 35c yard;

Our Price, 19c

Gents' hemmed pure Linen Handkerchiefs, Chicago price 25c yard;

Our Price, 12c

Hamburg Embroideries, 3 inches wide, Chicago price 6c yard;

Our Price, 3c

Fine yard-wide Unbleached Muslin, Chicago price 75c yard;

Our Price, 5c

Best brands of yard-wide Bleached Muslin, Chicago price 10c yard;

Our Price, 7c

Splendid Unbleached Canton Flannel, Chicago price 8 1-3c yard;

Our Price, 5c

Fine and heavy Bleached Canton Flannel, Chicago price 12 1-2c yard;

Our Price, 7c

Bleached Irish Linen Crash, Chicago price 81-3c yard;

Our Price, 4c

Irish Dress Linens in slate and clay, Chicago price 25c yard;

Our Price, 12c

Moth Balls, 3 dozen in a box, Chicago price 10c box;

Our Price, 3c

Bixby's Shoe Polish; Chicago price 15c box;

Our Price, 9c

Double Razor Straps, Chicago price 25c each;

Our Price, 10c

Kid Purses, nickle frames, Chicago price 15c each;

Our Price, 5c

Kirk's Carbolic Soap, Chicago price 15c cake;

Our Price, 9c

Mourning Pins, assorted sizes, Chicago price 3c paper;

Our Price, 1c

Memorandum Books, Chicago price 8c;

Our Price, 3c

Lowest prices known for fifty years now being given in the Chicago Bankrupt Sale going on at

Nugents

CHARLES L. BERNAYS,
German Assistant Editor Missouri Republican.

CARL DAENZER,
Editor Anzeiger des Westens.

E. D. KARGAR,
Reporter of the Anzeiger.

DESCRIPTION.

WANTS HIS WIFE.

Louis French Endeavoring to Persuade His Wife to Return to Him.

Mrs. Louis French, nee Minnie Molloy, is stopping with the family of her friend, Miss Edna Miller, at 202 North Thirteenth street while her husband is vainly trying to obtain an audience with her.

Dr. French called at the Post-Dispatch office yesterday and stated that he had just arrived in St. Louis, having been away for nearly a month. Dr. French is a prominent physician, and his wife is a woman of great beauty.

Dr. French is a man of great energy and ambition, and his wife is a woman of great beauty and grace. Dr. French is a man of great energy and ambition, and his wife is a woman of great beauty and grace. Dr. French

is a man of great energy and ambition, and his wife is a woman of great beauty and grace.

Dr. French is a man of great energy and ambition, and his wife is a woman of great beauty and grace. Dr. French is a man of great energy and ambition, and his wife is a woman of great beauty and grace. Dr. French

is a man of great energy and ambition, and his wife is a woman of great beauty and grace.

Dr. French is a man of great energy and ambition, and his wife is a woman of great beauty and grace. Dr. French is a man of great energy and ambition, and his wife is a woman of great beauty and grace. Dr. French

is a man of great energy and ambition, and his wife is a woman of great beauty and grace.

Dr. French is a man of great energy and ambition, and his wife is a woman of great beauty and grace. Dr. French is a man of great energy and ambition, and his wife is a woman of great beauty and grace. Dr. French

St. Louis Post-Dispatch
PUBLISHED BY
THE PULITZER PUBLISHING CO.
JOSEPH PULITZER, President

TERMS.

Daily from Newsboys..... 2 Cents
Sunday, from Newsboys..... 15 Cents
One year, postage paid, every afternoon and Sunday morning..... $10.00
Six months..... 4.00
Three months..... 2.00
One month..... 1.00
By the week (delivered by carrier)..... 15
By the Month (delivered by carrier)..... 65
Sunday edition, by mail, per year..... 2.00
Subscribers who fail to receive their papers regularly will confer a favor upon us by reporting the same to this office by postal card.

All business or news letters or telegrams should be addressed

POST-DISPATCH,

618 Olive St.

POSTAGE.

Entered in the Post-office, St. Louis, Mo., as Second-class matter.

DOMESTIC. For Copy.

Eight to sixteen pages..... 1 Cent

Eight to thirty-two pages..... 2 Cents

FOREIGN.

Daily (8 Pages)..... 1 Cent

or 10 to 15 Pages..... 1.50 Cents

Sunday (16 to 30 Pages)..... 2 Cents

Editorial Rooms..... 40 Cents

Business Office..... 40 Cents

New York Bureau, Room 56, Fallstaff Building, Max H. Fisher, Manager.

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 20, 1894.

AMUSEMENTS.

OLYMPIC—"Dalmatian's" at 6.
GRAND—"Black Crook."
HAGAN—"A Flag of Truce."
POPE'S—"The White Squadron."
HAYLINGS—"The Cattle King."
STANDARD—Mico's Club Burlesque Co.

MATERIAL—TO-DAY.

OLYMPIC—"Black Crook."
GRAND—"Black Crook."
HAGAN—"A Flag of Truce."
POPE'S—"The White Squadron."

THE President's dark horse appears to have been White.

We ought perhaps to be thankful that we didn't get Olney.

The senatorial theory is that nothing is too good for a Senator.

The plea of "transitory frenzy" is designed to cover a multitude of brutal murders.

The best solution of the destitution problem is to find employment for men who are willing to work.

Gov. Francis did not realize how much he was doing for Louisiana when he was working so earnestly for Missouri.

Boss McKane must envy Johnny Davenport, who goes scot-free after manipulating elections for so many years.

The confirmation of Mr. White interrupted a speech on the Hawaiian question. This is a good beginning, at any rate.

JUDGE WALBRIDGE will have to polish up the weapons in his legal armory and take another try at Commissioner Reid.

AS THE New York Democrats united so promptly on a Southern man, they might possibly flock together for a Western man in '96.

BISMARCK is happy, young William is happy, and as trade with Russia is to be resumed all Deutschland ought to be happy.

Emerson WILLIAM wore a naval uniform at Friedrichsruhe. Was this to indicate to the man of blood and iron that his majesty had taken water?

Boss McKane's Sunday-school will miss him, but it will not be difficult to find some one almost as good to take his place during his enforced absence.

In the jargon of diplomacy international difficulties are called "incidents." But the Hawaiian row does not reach that dignity. It is called an "affair."

SENATOR WHITE is said to be a very able lawyer. If the President knows of another lawyer anywhere he should put him in the Cabinet with instructions to tackle the trusts.

"If a Democratic majority of 100 cannot do business in this House," said Mr. Bland yesterday, "we had better give way to some party that can." This is a mournful saying but worthy of prayerful thought. There may be something prophetic in it.

The perjury-mill run in connection with street railroad damage cases, which the Post-Dispatch has exposed, is assuming the proportions of a great public scandal and a monstrous wrong. Excellent material for a grand-jury investigation has been made public.

SHOULD Mr. McKinley become President the Government will be conducted very prettily if he follows the policy he adopted in preparing the McKinley law. Every man will get whatever he asks, regardless of consequences, and only he who doesn't ask first will be neglected.

A QUORUM cannot be made by a caucus resolution. The Democrats who will not do their duty except under the party law are not worthy of the trust committed to them, and when they come up for re-election are likely to have trouble with their constituents. When the enormous majority they have is considered, only willful and perverse disposition will account for the slow progress made in the House.

THE House of Lords is still a sacred thing in spite of Radical denunciation and Liberal grumbling. The refusal of the Speaker of the House of Commons to permit a disrespectful reference to the Lords shows how strong in the English mind is the love of order to prevent the brawls and squabbles. It will take more than the power of to-day to destroy the prescriptions of centuries.

The conviction of McKane will have a good effect on brawls all over the country. The people tolerate the antics of these strange products as long as they do not assail the integrity of society or violate the primary maxims of public safety. When they do overstep the line marked by popular indifference they sooner or later get into trouble, as Tweed and his pals did. Even Col. Butler, great as he is, should lay this to heart.

The hundred newsboys on the down town streets are selling the Daily Post-Dispatch for 2 cents. Our patrons are requested to notify us of any attempt on part of newsboys to force them to pay more than 2 cents for the Post-Dispatch or to force them to buy with other papers "three for a nickel." Give time and location of newsboy refusing to sell the Daily Post-Dispatch for 2 cents "straight." All persons who handle the Post-Dispatch on the streets do so under the agreement that it will be sold for 2 cents, if desired independent of any combination.

A NEEDLESS SURVIVAL.

The radical wing of the British Liberals will find no difficulty in showing that their demand for a campaign of extinction against the House of Lords is supported by the logic of political progress.

The only good that can be said of the British aristocracy as a political force is that it served as a selfish but essential factor in the establishment of free government. When the people were helpless it placed the power to help themselves in their hands. It stood between the aggression of the kings and the people in defense of its own powers and privileges. But in wresting concessions from the throne it gained for the people the primary rights which are the foundations of English liberty and which have rendered the triumphs of Democracy in Great Britain and America possible.

The beneficial function of the aristocracy was the checking of kingly, not popular, power. That function has long been useless. The lords paved the way for their own political destruction when they helped the people to get control of the throne. The throne is now a powerless figure-head wholly under subject to the popular will. The fact that the House of Lords still retains some power is merely an evidence that democratic progress has not yet done its perfect work in England. It is a relic of a vanished system which merely serves to block the wheels of popular government.

The abolition of the Upper House, as now constituted, is therefore demanded by the irresistible logic of events. It is doomed under the law of progress, and its extinction must come sooner or later—the earlier the better.

CONGRESSIONAL NOMINATIONS.

The nomination of Senator White of Louisiana for the Supreme Judgeship was the shortest cut the President could take to get out of his difficulty with the Senate. The choice is probably as good as could be made. Senator White's proved ability and legal learning, his record at the bar and experience on the highest bench of his State indicate thorough qualification for the place.

But in nominating a member of Congress President Cleveland emphasized that lack of tender regard for the safeguards of legislative independence which has characterized his conduct with reference to the legislative branch of the Government.

The selection of Congressmen for official appointments is not forbidden by the Constitution except in the case of offices created or the emoluments of which have been increased during their terms. But the policy has been approved by the soundest judgment of patriotic public men and is not in consonance with jealous care for the public welfare.

One of the plain objections to it is that "senatorial courtesy" cuts off all question of fitness.

The attitude of the founders of the Republic and the framers of the Constitution was clearly shown to be against the policy. The constitutional convention adopted a clause making Members of Congress ineligible for Federal office during their terms, which was amended to the present clause, while some of its friends were absent. The State ratifying conventions of New York, Virginia and North Carolina endorsed the original clause. In the first session of Congress a proposal to amend the constitution to that effect was passed. In the Eleventh Congress, under Madison's Presidency, a proposed amendment making members of Congress ineligible for federal offices during the presidential term in which they were elected failed of getting a two-thirds majority of the House by only three votes.

The perjury-mill run in connection with street railroad damage cases, which the Post-Dispatch has exposed, is assuming the proportions of a great public scandal and a monstrous wrong. Excellent material for a grand-jury investigation has been made public.

SHOULD Mr. McKinley become President the Government will be conducted very prettily if he follows the policy he adopted in preparing the McKinley law. Every man will get whatever he asks, regardless of consequences, and only he who doesn't ask first will be neglected.

The object of all these attempts was to save the independence of the federal legislature from executive attacks at every point. All avenues except that of appointment were closed. The failure to guard this point was due largely to the fact that the present spoils system was not anticipated, and the first patriots did not believe that trusted public servants would be guilty of perfidious political bargains.

The possibilities which may grow out of an abuse of the appropiative power to finance legislation are patent to all intelligent citizens. The construction which may be put upon an appointment of a Congressman even in a case where there is apparent innocence is shown by the remark of the head of the department that the nomination of Mr. White "lays upon every Democratic Senator a plain obligation to assist in making the Cleveland Administration a success."

Washington felt impelled to make apology for the appointment of a Congressman when an emergency drove him to it. The policy of such nominations have the appearance of evil and the possibility of wrong. The precedent is more honored in the breach than the observance.

THE POLICE EMERGENCY.

The possibility of a reduction of the police force because of a lack of funds is not so trivial a matter as Comptroller Stegeman and other officials seem to think it.

Mr. Stegeman denominated the talk of the need of more men on the force as "poppycock," whatever that may be. He says that crimes would still be committed, no matter how many additional policemen may be put on the force. This is true. Crimes would probably be committed if there was a policeman at every house, but Mr. Stegeman surely does not mean to deny that an efficient police force is nevertheless necessary for the protection of citizens and the enforcement of law, or that crime is checked in proportion to the efficiency of the force.

If a police force is worth anything at all to the city—and no sensible man will deny it—it's efficiency is a matter of prime importance. It has long been manifest that the city has outgrown its force, and now, when there never was greater need of watchfulness, to impair the inadequate force it would be the height of folly. Crime has been unusually frequent of late, and to have public notice given that the city will be less watchfully guarded than heretofore would be an invitation to criminals.

The cause of the Police Board's financial straits is a matter to be determined at the proper time, but it should not be allowed to affect the efficiency of the police force at a critical time. The people should not be compelled to suffer the consequences of any mistakes that may have been made. The emergency which Chief Harrigan and the Police Commissioners say exists must be met and the authorities concerned should heartily co-operate in meeting it.

A POOR PLEA.

One of the so-called objections to the income tax is that it is a "Populist" proposal. This is supposed to prove its absurdity, for in the minds of those who use the argument no good can come out of the Populists, just as, 1,000 years ago, it was said that no good could come out of Nazareth.

But it ought to be clear to every one that a movement as young as that of the People's party, which can poll 1,041,000 votes in the first year of its organization, should not be treated with contempt. And no matter what may be thought of its doctrines by the members of the older parties, they at least deserve respectful and courteous consideration. When 1,000 men agree on any one question, a presumption arises that there is some glimpse of truth in their belief which is entitled to careful study.

But as a matter of fact the demand for an income tax did not originate with the Populists. It has been in vogue in England for decades, and is considered the keystone of the British fiscal system. In America it was adopted during the civil war, and in spite of opposition from an interested minority was successful from the start. Before it was abolished in 1872 most of the objections to it had been refuted by actual practice, and had it been retained would probably long ago have been taken as a matter of course, as a tax of unquestionable merit and utility. It has the approval of the best economists and commands itself to the disinterested mind without much difficulty. It is because of this that the Populists adopted it. They saw its merits, and, like honest men, asked for its enactment.

When objections like this are urged against any proposal it is a pretty clear sign that no respectable arguments can be produced. People are not captious and trivial except when they come to the end of the logical rope. The appearance of the "Populist" sneer at the income tax proves the existence of a deficit in the argumentative treasury of its opponents.

The attitude of the founders of the Republic and the framers of the Constitution was clearly shown to be against the policy. The constitutional convention adopted a clause making Members of Congress ineligible for Federal office during their terms, which was amended to the present clause, while some of its friends were absent. The State ratifying conventions of New York, Virginia and North Carolina endorsed the original clause. In the first session of Congress a proposal to amend the constitution to that effect was passed. In the Eleventh Congress, under Madison's Presidency, a proposed amendment making members of Congress ineligible for federal offices during the presidential term in which they were elected failed of getting a two-thirds majority of the House by only three votes.

The perjury-mill run in connection with street railroad damage cases, which the Post-Dispatch has exposed, is assuming the proportions of a great public scandal and a monstrous wrong. Excellent material for a grand-jury investigation has been made public.

SHOULD Mr. McKinley become President the Government will be conducted very prettily if he follows the policy he adopted in preparing the McKinley law. Every man will get whatever he asks, regardless of consequences, and only he who doesn't ask first will be neglected.

The object of all these attempts was to save the independence of the federal legislature from executive attacks at every point. All avenues except that of appointment were closed. The failure to guard this point was due largely to the fact that the present spoils system was not anticipated, and the first patriots did not believe that trusted public servants would be guilty of perfidious political bargains.

The possibilities which may grow out of an abuse of the appropiative power to finance legislation are patent to all intelligent citizens. The construction which may be put upon an appointment of a Congressman even in a case where there is apparent innocence is shown by the remark of $60,000. Both come close the amount of money which should have been held a month ago. It was announced that a majority of negroes were not represented—although all the big men of the trust were present. The adjourned meeting was to have been held Wednesday, but only a few newspaper reporters holding proxies were present. It was given out afterwards that under the laws of New Jersey a minority could not adjourn an annual meeting, and hence the action of the first meeting was illegal. The real reason was, of course, that the trust managers are now lobbying at Washington to save some of their tariff protection, and to make public at this time the astonishing profits of the combination during the past year would be most impolitic.

THE PROFESSIONAL FORUM.

NOW that his birthday is approaching, the old story that the Father of His Country "cussed" is again revived. Considering his provocations, it is no wonder if he used epithets at times. The costly and clumsy ivory teeth which he had to send 8,000 miles to get, were sufficient in themselves to excite the noble rage of the mildest of men.

Mrs. KATHERINE KLEMMONS of the "Lady of Venice" play is said to be the "bone of contention" between Col. Cody and Fred May; but will Miss Klemmons desire to regard herself or be regarded in that company? She may be a very plump and pleasant young woman.

THERE is now among the Welsh. The eisteddfod at Chicago ended in a loss of $200, and the next at Pontypridd, on Davy's native heath, left an adverse balance of £2,000. If the eisteddfod is to disappear, what will a Welshman have to live for?

TAX International Jig of the Swiss Consul at Cincinnati has been followed by his resignation. The cars of state, added to a jag constructed of Cincinnati material, are too big a load for the hardiest mountaineer.

THE Hawaiian business has been rather costly, but as American cartridges are being shipped to Honolulu we are getting a little something back in the way of trade.

THE Tennessee man who rejoiced when his bride broke her vow not to speak to him "ever again," may not be quite so joyful after he has had more experience.

THEY love him, yes they love him. For the debts that he has paid. They love him, yes they love him. For the cuckoo he has made.

WHAT does Cody know of the code? And what will he do with May? Will a clubman dead pass the road, or a showman go to stay?

CHASKA, the educated Indian who married Miss Cora Fowler, has proved to be more like a white man than she had expected. He has eloped with another woman.

IT is to be hoped that Mr. Desire Longtin of Pawtucket, who has just been proven held to $12,000, will not immediately raise his voice against the income tax.

A FRIEND of Fred May sought Col. Cody in every bar-room in Washington without finding him. Is it possible that Col. Cody has joined the totalitarians?

LUCASIA may lose the sugar tax, but the new Mother Hubbard just presented her by Grover may pacify her to some extent.

THE Supreme bench appointment would be a pure plum for New York. For Louisiana it is a sugar plum.

THE Peckham Incident.

From the St. Joseph Gazette.

The action of the Missouri Senators, both of whom voted against confirmation, will be decided not only by the Democrats of this State, but by men of all parties.

From the Springfield Democrat.

Senators Cockrell and Vest have done as was expected by those familiar with their independence of thought and action, and in doing so have strengthened themselves with their constituents.

From the St. Louis Democrat.

Hereafter the President should consult directly with the Missouri Senators and spare any of our favorite sons the humiliation of acting as middleman.

From the Springfield Democrat.

No amount of pleacan change the vote of a Missouri Senator, and even Mr. Cleveland has a higher opinion of Vest and Cockrell than he would have entertained had they given him their votes in return for favors conferred upon their friends.

The Jarrett Style of Humbug.

From the Philadelphia Times.

FOR THE FUND.

The Great Pastime-Pauline Foot Ball Game Thursday.

HEFFELINGER, THE FAMOUS YALE
"GUARD," MAY PLAY.

An Exciting Contest Assured, as Both
Teams Are in Thorough Training.
How the Elephants Will "Line Up" for the Game—Other Interesting Details.

The great Rugby foot-ball game between the Pastime Athletic Club and Christian Brothers' College elevens for the benefit of the Post-DISPATCH Lake Employment Fund, which takes place at new Sportsman's Park next Thursday (Washington's Birthday) is causing much comment in the local amateur athletic circles. The rivalry existing between the two teams is something intense and a battle royal is confidently looked for when they come together on the gridiron field.

The expected appearance in a Christian Brothers' uniform of Hefflinger, the famous Yale guard, adds to the interest. Hefflinger is known to foot ballers the world over. His wonderful guard work with the Yale eleven two years ago has never been equaled in the history of American foot ball. After leaving Yale "Heff" came West and settled down in Chicago. The first suggestion made to have him take part in Thursday's game was the result of a visit paid his friend, Martin Karpf, of the Pastime Club, who sees also.

W. A. Hefflinger.

When it was announced that Hefflinger was in the city the Christian Brothers' management started out to secure his consent to play. But he had already committed himself to "Heff" had left town a day or so previous.

He was then communicated with in Chicago, and a reply was received to the effect, he could spare the time for the trip. The Christian Brothers' management wired him again, however, requesting him to make a definite answer in a prompt time to-day.

In case he is able to come, Hefflinger will, undoubtedly, leave Chicago to-morrow night and return to the city on Sunday evening.

New Sportsman's Park has been tendered free of charge for the game by Chris Von der Ach, the president of the Pastime Club, who sees also.

The safe in Stouffer and Wyatt's door and feed store, Mrs. M. M. Mc., was robbed of $100 in the early morning.

Rev. G. L. Stipe, a Methodist minister, is lodged in the Paris (Tex.) jail charged by Mrs. Lee Weston that he was the author of the repeated assaults on her while she was his ward.

H. S. Lynn, indicted for grand larceny in connection with the failure of the Kansas City Continental and Trust Co., has taken a change of venue to

Wednesday about as follows:

Right guard.... W. Trimble or
A. Moore.

Mullany..... Left guard.... E. Mussen

Hall..... Center.... W. Brooks

Connelly..... Right halfback.... W. Trimble

Captain Martin..... Fullback.... H. Leonard

O'Connell..... Right tackle.... A. Forbes

Hickey..... Right end.... C. G. Conner

Pearson..... Quarter.... F. Harney

Substitutes Christian Brothers-Riviero, Pottier, Madson and Matthews. Pastimes—Mark Ewing and A. Terry.

Hefflinger will be one of the Christian Brother's guards, if he is able to come to the city.

SHELBY'S STILL

Must Avoid Alcohol While He Is in Training.

Sir B. W. Richardson in Longman's Magazine.

Absentmindedness from hulking things in eating and drinking is the first of these attributes, and it cannot be easily overvalued. The trainer knows this in all cases where he is preparing his pupils for actual contests. In some points trainers differ, but there is a point on which those whose opinion is worth any value do not differ. All good trainers and all good competitors agree on the rule that above all care from alcoholic fluids and stimulants is of the greatest importance. I am my own abstainer because by being on a strict diet I am stronger, lighter and better the fit I am, and can get through much work, mental and physical, with less fatigue than others. A definite answer is to expect some time to-day. In case he is able to come, Hefflinger will, undoubtedly, leave Chicago to-morrow night and return to the city on Sunday evening.

New Sportsman's Park has been tendered free of charge for the game by Chris Von der Ach, the president of the Pastime Club, who sees also.

The safe in Stouffer and Wyatt's door and feed store, Mrs. M. M. Mc., was robbed of $100 in the early morning.

Rev. G. L. Stipe, a Methodist minister, is lodged in the Paris (Tex.) jail charged by Mrs. Lee Weston that he was the author of the repeated assaults on her while she was his ward.

H. S. Lynn, indicted for grand larceny in connection with the failure of the Kansas City Continental and Trust Co., has taken a change of venue to

Wednesday about as follows:

Right guard.... W. Trimble or
A. Moore.

Mullany..... Left guard.... E. Mussen

Hall..... Center.... W. Brooks

Connelly..... Right halfback.... W. Trimble

Captain Martin..... Fullback.... H. Leonard

O'Connell..... Right tackle.... A. Forbes

Hickey..... Right end.... C. G. Conner

Pearson..... Quarter.... F. Harney

Substitutes Christian Brothers-Riviero, Pottier, Madson and Matthews. Pastimes—Mark Ewing and A. Terry.

Hefflinger will be one of the Christian Brother's guards, if he is able to come to the city.

THE ATHLETE

Must Avoid Alcohol While He Is in Training.

Sir B. W. Richardson in Longman's Magazine.

Absentmindedness from hulking things in eating and drinking is the first of these attributes, and it cannot be easily overvalued. The trainer knows this in all cases where he is preparing his pupils for actual contests. In some points trainers differ, but there is a point on which those whose opinion is worth any value do not differ. All good trainers and all good competitors agree on the rule that above all care from alcoholic fluids and stimulants is of the greatest importance. I am my own abstainer because by being on a strict diet I am stronger, lighter and better the fit I am, and can get through much work, mental and physical, with less fatigue than others. A definite answer is to expect some time to-day. In case he is able to come, Hefflinger will, undoubtedly, leave Chicago to-morrow night and return to the city on Sunday evening.

New Sportsman's Park has been tendered free of charge for the game by Chris Von der Ach, the president of the Pastime Club, who sees also.

The safe in Stouffer and Wyatt's door and feed store, Mrs. M. M. Mc., was robbed of $100 in the early morning.

Rev. G. L. Stipe, a Methodist minister, is lodged in the Paris (Tex.) jail charged by Mrs. Lee Weston that he was the author of the repeated assaults on her while she was his ward.

H. S. Lynn, indicted for grand larceny in connection with the failure of the Kansas City Continental and Trust Co., has taken a change of venue to

Wednesday about as follows:

Right guard.... W. Trimble or
A. Moore.

Mullany..... Left guard.... E. Mussen

Hall..... Center.... W. Brooks

Connelly..... Right halfback.... W. Trimble

Captain Martin..... Fullback.... H. Leonard

O'Connell..... Right tackle.... A. Forbes

Hickey..... Right end.... C. G. Conner

Pearson..... Quarter.... F. Harney

Substitutes Christian Brothers-Riviero, Pottier, Madson and Matthews. Pastimes—Mark Ewing and A. Terry.

Hefflinger will be one of the Christian Brother's guards, if he is able to come to the city.

DEATHS.

BUTLER—Suddenly, infant son of Wm. M. and Marie Butler, new Lange.

SULLIVAN—On Tuesday, Feb. 20, 1894, at 5:45 o'clock a.m., RICHARD L. SULLIVAN, son of Mr. Mary and brother of M. E. J. and Katie Sullivan, died at 26 years of age.

The funeral will take place Thursday, 22d inst. at St. Patrick's church, from family residence, No. 2626 Madison street, to St. Leo's Church, thence to Calvary Cemetery. Friends are invited to attend.

TARLTON—Monday, Feb. 19, at his residence, 2831 Scott avenue, James Tarlton, beloved husband of Catherine Beale Tarlton, aged 84 years & months and 21 days.

Funeral Wednesday, Feb. 21, at 2 o'clock. Interment private.

Lexington and Louisville (Ky.) papers please copy.

Marriage, Birth and Death Notices.

When inserted in the Post-DISPATCH, will be telegraphed to the NEW YORK WORLD for insertion in that journal, without extra charge, when so requested.

FIVE-kt. GOLD WEDDING RINGS,
MERMOD & JACQUARD JEWELRY CO.,
BROADWAY, COR. LOCUST.

CRIMINAL NEWS.

Seized His Collar.

EMPORIA, Kan., Feb. 20.—One of the smoothest jail deliveries ever known in this vicinity took place from the Lyon County Jail at this place last night. A. B. Treadwell, who burglarized the post-office this same month ago, was tried and sentenced to five years in the penitentiary. He was given a new trial by the latter Court, which ordered him returned to the Lyon County jail safe-keepers. He escaped with a burglar, Lynch, alias Frank Thomas, Cliff Woods and two other law violators. During the night Treadwell and his companions got away from the cell and escaped.

As they did not awake until the Jailer opened their cell, the other prisoners had no opportunity to take advantage of the opening.

It is supposed Treadwell had assistance from outside parties.

Committed to Jail.

WEST PLAINS, Mo., Feb. 20.—George W. Antolin, the Constable who killed Charlie Treadwell in the Bessey township last week, had a preliminary hearing, and, after examination, was committed to jail by the Justice to await the Grand-jury's action. Bail was refused.

Mrs. Brittain, the mother of defendant, said her son was a good boy, but an accomplice of his son in the murder, was released.

Young Anderson's body was sent to his home in Illinois for interment.

One of the Walsall Group.

LONDON, Feb. 20.—The Great Pastime of the whole evidence taken at the Bourdin Inquest and the fact that the bomb which killed him was manufactured of iron is to connect Bourdin with the Walsall anarchists, with whom he is stated to have been more or less intimate.

Wanted to Hypnotize Mrs. Marbrick.

LONDON, Feb. 20.—Mr. Asquith, Home Secretary, in reply to the request of Prof. Tyndall, who wanted to know if America had been approached by the Walsall group, provided him with the time for the trip. The Christian Brothers' management wired him again, however, requesting him to make a definite answer in a prompt time to-day.

In case he is able to come, Hefflinger will be one of the special team to dispose of the case.

Tyndall Must Be Resentenced.

JACKSON, Miss., Feb. 20.—The Supreme Court, in denying the motion of the Attorney-General in the Will Purvis case, held that the criminal must be first brought into the Circuit Court and resented. There is talk of a special term to dispose of the case.

Crime in Brief.

RIVER, C. Evans, a farmer, living in Cooper County, was indicted for killing his wife, Mrs. Evans, in the winter of 1893.

The safe in Stouffer and Wyatt's door and feed store, Mrs. M. M. Mc., was robbed of $100 in the early morning.

Rev. G. L. Stipe, a Methodist minister, is lodged in the Paris (Tex.) jail charged by Mrs. Lee Weston that he was the author of the repeated assaults on her while she was his ward.

H. S. Lynn, indicted for grand larceny in connection with the failure of the Kansas City Continental and Trust Co., has taken a change of venue to

Wednesday about as follows:

Right guard.... W. Trimble or
A. Moore.

Mullany..... Left guard.... E. Mussen

Hall..... Center.... W. Brooks

Connelly..... Right halfback.... W. Trimble

Captain Martin..... Fullback.... H. Leonard

O'Connell..... Right tackle.... A. Forbes

Hickey..... Right end.... C. G. Conner

Pearson..... Quarter.... F. Harney

Substitutes Christian Brothers-Riviero, Pottier, Madson and Matthews. Pastimes—Mark Ewing and A. Terry.

Hefflinger will be one of the Christian Brother's guards, if he is able to come to the city.

COMMERCIAL.

Regular Cash Market Price To-Day.

WHEAT.

To-day. Saturday. Year Ago.

No. 2 reds.... $20.00-$20.50 55¢-$0.52 74¢
No. 1 reds.... 51 b. 51 b. 65
No. 4 reds.... 51 b. 51 b. 65
No. 2 hard red.... 50 b. 50 b. 63

CORN.

No. 2 red.... $20.00-$20.50 55¢-$0.52 74¢
No. 2 white.... 51 b. 50 b. 53
No. 2 So. white.... 51 b. 50 b. 53

OATS.

No. 2 white.... 51 b. 50 b. 53

Future Prices.

Closing Yesterday. Highest Sales. Lowest Sales. Closing To-day.

WHEAT.

Feb. 20. 21. 22. 23. 24. 25. 26. 27. 28. 29. 30. 31. 32. 33. 34. 35. 36. 37. 38. 39. 40. 41. 42. 43. 44. 45. 46. 47. 48. 49. 50. 51. 52. 53. 54. 55. 56. 57. 58. 59. 60. 61. 62. 63. 64. 65. 66. 67. 68. 69. 70. 71. 72. 73. 74. 75. 76. 77. 78. 79. 80. 81. 82. 83. 84. 85. 86. 87. 88. 89. 90. 91. 92. 93. 94. 95. 96. 97. 98. 99. 100. 101. 102. 103. 104. 105. 106. 107. 108. 109. 110. 111. 112. 113. 114. 115. 116. 117. 118. 119. 120. 121. 122. 123. 124. 125. 126. 127. 128. 129. 130. 131. 132. 133. 134. 135. 136. 137. 138. 139. 140. 141. 142. 143. 144. 145. 146. 147. 148. 149. 150. 151. 152. 153. 154. 155. 156. 157. 158. 159. 16

THE DELICATESSEN CAFE DYNAMITE IN PARIS.

51 OLIVE STREET.
For Ladies and Gentlemen,
STRICTLY FIRST-CLASS.

CITY NEWS.

The never been-hand, the always dependable great Broadway Bazaar held the crowds yesterday as usual. It held the gains, you see, and it does not take long for the independent public to find out the way to the house that gives away and invariably the biggest value for the least money. Just now the second installment of the famous purchase is going like the typical "hot seats" at Crawford's.

Dr. E. C. Chase,
204 Olive street. Crown and bridge work.

MERCHANTS, get your show cards and price tickets at 412 Washington avenue.

PRIVATE matters skillfully treated and medicines furnished. Dr. Dinsbeir, 841 Pine st.

MOTHER OF THE JAMES BOYS.

The Report That She Is Seriously Ill
Unfounded.

EXCELSIOR, Mo., Feb. 21.—The report sent out from here a few days ago that Mrs. Zerella Samuels, mother of Jesse and Frank James, was dying had no foundation. A party of guests went from the Elma Hotel in this city to the James farm last Saturday, and Mrs. Samuels was able to show them over the grounds and appeared to be in good health. Although 75 years old, she is able to get around as lively as many younger persons.

AS SOUND AS A DOLLAR.

The United States Mutual Accident Association in Good Financial Condition. New York, Feb. 20.—The report of Deputy Commissioner of Insurance Michael Shannon on the affairs of the United States Mutual Accident Association has been made public. He finds the association with a splendid plant, and in a condition to command itself to people desiring such indemnity as it offers, and effectually disposes of the charges affecting its financial standing.

NEGLIGENT BAILIFFS.

A Prisoner Left Unattended in an Almost Desolated Court-Room.

DECATUR, Ill., Feb. 20.—When Circuit Court adjourned last night Harry Mitchell, who was on trial for manslaughter, was forgotten by the bailiffs. His attorney, A. F. Smith, who was looking up some papers, and a reporter engaged in copying the docket, were the only other occupants of the court-room.

One of the men got up from his seat and saw the man sitting uneasily in his seat and looking as if he felt hurt at the neglect. "Hello," said the reporter, "are you Mitchell?"

"Well, what has got you?"

"I don't know," said Mitchell. "I don't know what to do."

"What, are you here yet?" said Attorney Smith.

"Yes; what had I better do?" said the reporter.

"Go over to the jail and tell them to give you a good supper."

Mitchell left the room and started toward the jail. The sheriff, who was much surprised to find Mitchell wandering about alone. After the prisoner was locked up the deputy went back to the courtroom, and in the Sheriff's office and inquired for Mitchell.

There was wild excitement for a while, but of course nobody was to blame.

83% ON ALL—No Reserve.

The great Mortgage sale now in its third week is still the scene of great interest. The rich and poor mingle, all in quest of those wonderful bargains. They all seem to know and realize that the goods are right. Men's suits and overcoats going at a uniform reduction of 33½ per cent.

Finley & Hull, veterans in the clothing line, had the reputation of keeping the best, noblest and most stylish garments in the city. The stock is being sold now under a mortgage, and A. Kohn is trustee for the creditors at northwest corner Pine and Broadway.

Millions in Realty Involved.

The Bequette Property Co. sued Marie E. Patterson yesterday for the recovery of possession of certain premises 100 feet west of Twenty-first street and fronting 69 feet on Pine street. The plaintiff asks $20,000 damages for the unlawful withholding of the property now $100 a month. It is the first in a series of actions which will call in question the title of the property from Third street to Jefferson avenue, in the Oliver street.

An organization of the heirs of Jean Baptiste Bequette, who settled in St. Louis in 1764 and died in 1867, has filed a complaint for a writ of quietus against the title to which is said to be in question and it descended to his three daughters. One of them, Margaret, the widow of Joseph Alvarado, has filed a complaint for a writ of quietus of a certain interest in her estate to J. B. C. Lucas in 1808. Because she did not obtain the signature of her sister, it is held that the deed is not valid, and therefore that the title of the present owners is not good. Mrs. Barada's heirs are said to be pushing the suit.

Married in Haste.

CLARKSVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 21.—Three couples from different points in Kentucky eloped here and were wedded to-day. One was a double marriage, the other a double runaway, and one of the couples were cousins, H. T. Cole and Miss Nettie Nettie, both of Trenton, left home at 2 a. m., traveling in a private conveyance, arriving at 5 o'clock, and were married by Rev. R. E. L. Gandy, of the First Church. Ex-Gov. W. C. Smith performed the ceremony jointly at the Court-house for W. S. Kemp and Miss Annie Todd of Shady Grove and W. C. Powell and Miss Louisa Powell, cousins of Todd County.

That Tired Feeling

Indicates that the blood is impoverished, the circulation poor, the vitality exhausted, the system overworked, poorly nourished, run down, worn out. It is when the body is in this condition that is most liable to make its attacks and most to be feared. An invigorating, vitalizing, blood purifying, building up medicine is needed, and these are just the qualities possessed by

The Grip

HOOD'S Sarsa- parilla

"Three months ago I was tired all the time. I had no appetite and could eat nothing for almost a day at a time. I last persuaded myself to send and get a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla. When I had finished taking it I could not eat enough. I have taken three bottles and feel better than I have for two years." MISS JENNIE E. BACUS, Newport, Ark.

"I fell all worn out and ready to go to bed. My brother advised me to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and I got a bottle. When I had taken four bottles I was as sound as ever." CHARLES HARTMAN, Lincoln, Pa.

Hood's Pills cure all Liver Ills, Biliousness, Jaundice, Indigestion, Sick Headaches. 25c.

THE STATUES OF VENUS.

They Excel All Others in Loveliness.

What Gave to Them Their Great and Lasting Name.

Are Women Less Beautifully Formed To-Day Than in Earlier Ages?

The Authorities Handling It Very gingerly, Fearing Another Casualty—Both Bombs Supposed to Have Been Placed by the Same Individual—A Letter to the Prefect of Police.

PARIS, Feb. 20.—The city of Paris has been startled by another bomb explosion, and, following closely upon the outrage at the Hotel Terminus, this new evidence of anarchist activity caused considerable excitement. The details of the affair, as reported by the police up to the hour this dispatch is sent, are as follows:

A man of suspicious appearance recently hired a furnished room in a small tenement or hotel of a modest description, situated at No. 59 Rue St. Jacques. So far as can be ascertained the suspicious-looking tenant disappeared on the night of the bombing, did not return last night, the proprietor of the hotel, Mme. Calabresi, knocked at the door and was threatened with a brick that the door would open. Mme. Calabresi, however, delayed carrying out her intention to enter the apartment until this morning, when she found the door had been opened to her.

While engaged in this task the landlady became aware that something had caught in the open doorway. Upon examination she found that it was, in all appearances, a bomb or an infernal machine. Mme. Calabresi ran away from the door in alarm and ran down. She realized that if she would retain the graceful charms which nature had given her, she must regain her health. Here is her own brief account of her experience.

"I had for some time been weak, tired and run down. My usual good health was leaving me. I continued to grow worse and was finally taken with typhoid fever. Not recovering from this as rapidly as I should, and feeling that my general health need building up, I made up my mind to try Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy.

After the explosion he sent for assistance and Mme. Calabresi, her husband, M., and Mme. Isidore, their eight-year-old daughter, were taken to the Hotel Dieu, where they were reported wounded. It was later learned that an explosion had taken place in the room of M. Isidore, a commission agent, and wounded his wife, who accompanied him.

As soon as the policeman recovered from the shock of the explosion he sent for assistance and Mme. Calabresi, her husband, M., and Mme. Isidore, their eight-year-old daughter, were taken to the Hotel Dieu, where they were reported wounded. It was later learned that an explosion had taken place in the room of M. Isidore, a commission agent, and wounded his wife, who accompanied him.

While engaged in this task the landlady became aware that something had caught in the open doorway. Upon examination she found that it was, in all appearances, a bomb or an infernal machine. Mme. Calabresi ran away from the door in alarm and ran down. She realized that if she would retain the graceful charms which nature had given her, she must regain her health. Here is her own brief account of her experience.

"I had for some time been weak, tired and run down. My usual good health was leaving me. I continued to grow worse and was finally taken with typhoid fever. Not recovering from this as rapidly as I should, and feeling that my general health need building up, I made up my mind to try Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy.

After the explosion he sent for assistance and Mme. Calabresi, her husband, M., and Mme. Isidore, their eight-year-old daughter, were taken to the Hotel Dieu, where they were reported wounded. It was later learned that an explosion had taken place in the room of M. Isidore, a commission agent, and wounded his wife, who accompanied him.

As soon as the policeman recovered from the shock of the explosion he sent for assistance and Mme. Calabresi, her husband, M., and Mme. Isidore, their eight-year-old daughter, were taken to the Hotel Dieu, where they were reported wounded. It was later learned that an explosion had taken place in the room of M. Isidore, a commission agent, and wounded his wife, who accompanied him.

While engaged in this task the landlady became aware that something had caught in the open doorway. Upon examination she found that it was, in all appearances, a bomb or an infernal machine. Mme. Calabresi ran away from the door in alarm and ran down. She realized that if she would retain the graceful charms which nature had given her, she must regain her health. Here is her own brief account of her experience.

"I had for some time been weak, tired and run down. My usual good health was leaving me. I continued to grow worse and was finally taken with typhoid fever. Not recovering from this as rapidly as I should, and feeling that my general health need building up, I made up my mind to try Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy.

After the explosion he sent for assistance and Mme. Calabresi, her husband, M., and Mme. Isidore, their eight-year-old daughter, were taken to the Hotel Dieu, where they were reported wounded. It was later learned that an explosion had taken place in the room of M. Isidore, a commission agent, and wounded his wife, who accompanied him.

As soon as the policeman recovered from the shock of the explosion he sent for assistance and Mme. Calabresi, her husband, M., and Mme. Isidore, their eight-year-old daughter, were taken to the Hotel Dieu, where they were reported wounded. It was later learned that an explosion had taken place in the room of M. Isidore, a commission agent, and wounded his wife, who accompanied him.

While engaged in this task the landlady became aware that something had caught in the open doorway. Upon examination she found that it was, in all appearances, a bomb or an infernal machine. Mme. Calabresi ran away from the door in alarm and ran down. She realized that if she would retain the graceful charms which nature had given her, she must regain her health. Here is her own brief account of her experience.

"I had for some time been weak, tired and run down. My usual good health was leaving me. I continued to grow worse and was finally taken with typhoid fever. Not recovering from this as rapidly as I should, and feeling that my general health need building up, I made up my mind to try Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy.

After the explosion he sent for assistance and Mme. Calabresi, her husband, M., and Mme. Isidore, their eight-year-old daughter, were taken to the Hotel Dieu, where they were reported wounded. It was later learned that an explosion had taken place in the room of M. Isidore, a commission agent, and wounded his wife, who accompanied him.

As soon as the policeman recovered from the shock of the explosion he sent for assistance and Mme. Calabresi, her husband, M., and Mme. Isidore, their eight-year-old daughter, were taken to the Hotel Dieu, where they were reported wounded. It was later learned that an explosion had taken place in the room of M. Isidore, a commission agent, and wounded his wife, who accompanied him.

While engaged in this task the landlady became aware that something had caught in the open doorway. Upon examination she found that it was, in all appearances, a bomb or an infernal machine. Mme. Calabresi ran away from the door in alarm and ran down. She realized that if she would retain the graceful charms which nature had given her, she must regain her health. Here is her own brief account of her experience.

"I had for some time been weak, tired and run down. My usual good health was leaving me. I continued to grow worse and was finally taken with typhoid fever. Not recovering from this as rapidly as I should, and feeling that my general health need building up, I made up my mind to try Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy.

After the explosion he sent for assistance and Mme. Calabresi, her husband, M., and Mme. Isidore, their eight-year-old daughter, were taken to the Hotel Dieu, where they were reported wounded. It was later learned that an explosion had taken place in the room of M. Isidore, a commission agent, and wounded his wife, who accompanied him.

As soon as the policeman recovered from the shock of the explosion he sent for assistance and Mme. Calabresi, her husband, M., and Mme. Isidore, their eight-year-old daughter, were taken to the Hotel Dieu, where they were reported wounded. It was later learned that an explosion had taken place in the room of M. Isidore, a commission agent, and wounded his wife, who accompanied him.

While engaged in this task the landlady became aware that something had caught in the open doorway. Upon examination she found that it was, in all appearances, a bomb or an infernal machine. Mme. Calabresi ran away from the door in alarm and ran down. She realized that if she would retain the graceful charms which nature had given her, she must regain her health. Here is her own brief account of her experience.

"I had for some time been weak, tired and run down. My usual good health was leaving me. I continued to grow worse and was finally taken with typhoid fever. Not recovering from this as rapidly as I should, and feeling that my general health need building up, I made up my mind to try Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy.

After the explosion he sent for assistance and Mme. Calabresi, her husband, M., and Mme. Isidore, their eight-year-old daughter, were taken to the Hotel Dieu, where they were reported wounded. It was later learned that an explosion had taken place in the room of M. Isidore, a commission agent, and wounded his wife, who accompanied him.

As soon as the policeman recovered from the shock of the explosion he sent for assistance and Mme. Calabresi, her husband, M., and Mme. Isidore, their eight-year-old daughter, were taken to the Hotel Dieu, where they were reported wounded. It was later learned that an explosion had taken place in the room of M. Isidore, a commission agent, and wounded his wife, who accompanied him.

While engaged in this task the landlady became aware that something had caught in the open doorway. Upon examination she found that it was, in all appearances, a bomb or an infernal machine. Mme. Calabresi ran away from the door in alarm and ran down. She realized that if she would retain the graceful charms which nature had given her, she must regain her health. Here is her own brief account of her experience.

"I had for some time been weak, tired and run down. My usual good health was leaving me. I continued to grow worse and was finally taken with typhoid fever. Not recovering from this as rapidly as I should, and feeling that my general health need building up, I made up my mind to try Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy.

After the explosion he sent for assistance and Mme. Calabresi, her husband, M., and Mme. Isidore, their eight-year-old daughter, were taken to the Hotel Dieu, where they were reported wounded. It was later learned that an explosion had taken place in the room of M. Isidore, a commission agent, and wounded his wife, who accompanied him.

As soon as the policeman recovered from the shock of the explosion he sent for assistance and Mme. Calabresi, her husband, M., and Mme. Isidore, their eight-year-old daughter, were taken to the Hotel Dieu, where they were reported wounded. It was later learned that an explosion had taken place in the room of M. Isidore, a commission agent, and wounded his wife, who accompanied him.

While engaged in this task the landlady became aware that something had caught in the open doorway. Upon examination she found that it was, in all appearances, a bomb or an infernal machine. Mme. Calabresi ran away from the door in alarm and ran down. She realized that if she would retain the graceful charms which nature had given her, she must regain her health. Here is her own brief account of her experience.

"I had for some time been weak, tired and run down. My usual good health was leaving me. I continued to grow worse and was finally taken with typhoid fever. Not recovering from this as rapidly as I should, and feeling that my general health need building up, I made up my mind to try Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy.

After the explosion he sent for assistance and Mme. Calabresi, her husband, M., and Mme. Isidore, their eight-year-old daughter, were taken to the Hotel Dieu, where they were reported wounded. It was later learned that an explosion had taken place in the room of M. Isidore, a commission agent, and wounded his wife, who accompanied him.

As soon as the policeman recovered from the shock of the explosion he sent for assistance and Mme. Calabresi, her husband, M., and Mme. Isidore, their eight-year-old daughter, were taken to the Hotel Dieu, where they were reported wounded. It was later learned that an explosion had taken place in the room of M. Isidore, a commission agent, and wounded his wife, who accompanied him.

While engaged in this task the landlady became aware that something had caught in the open doorway. Upon examination she found that it was, in all appearances, a bomb or an infernal machine. Mme. Calabresi ran away from the door in alarm and ran down. She realized that if she would retain the graceful charms which nature had given her, she must regain her health. Here is her own brief account of her experience.

"I had for some time been weak, tired and run down. My usual good health was leaving me. I continued to grow worse and was finally taken with typhoid fever. Not recovering from this as rapidly as I should, and feeling that my general health need building up, I made up my mind to try Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy.

After the explosion he sent for assistance and Mme. Calabresi, her husband, M., and Mme. Isidore, their eight-year-old daughter, were taken to the Hotel Dieu, where they were reported wounded. It was later learned that an explosion had taken place in the room of M. Isidore, a commission agent, and wounded his wife, who accompanied him.

As soon as the policeman recovered from the shock of the explosion he sent for assistance and Mme. Calabresi, her husband, M., and Mme. Isidore, their eight-year-old daughter, were taken to the Hotel Dieu, where they were reported wounded. It was later learned that an explosion had taken place in the room of M. Isidore, a commission agent, and wounded his wife, who accompanied him.

While engaged in this task the landlady became aware that something had caught in the open doorway. Upon examination she found that it was, in all appearances, a bomb or an infernal machine. Mme. Calabresi ran away from the door in alarm and ran down. She realized that if she would retain the graceful charms which nature had given her, she must regain her health. Here is her own brief account of her experience.

"I had for some time been weak, tired and run down. My usual good health was leaving me. I continued to grow worse and was finally taken with typhoid fever. Not recovering from this as rapidly as I should, and feeling that my general health need building up, I made up my mind to try Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy.

</